

One of the Largest Cadet Classes Completes Comprehensive Training in Defensive Tactics and OC/Pepper Spray

A group of 13 cadets at the Nevada Department of Corrections emerged from a rigorous training period August 18, marking the completion of their OC/pepper spray and defensive tactics training.

These aspiring correctional officers have undergone diligent preparation, mastering a diverse array of skills essential for their future roles. From confidently handling OC/pepper spray to practicing with batons on training dummies, engaging in arrest simulations, honing physical fitness through running drills, and more – their training has been comprehensive and demanding, reflecting the complexities of their upcoming profession.

Sergeant Rob Robison praised the cadet class for their tenacity.

"It's wonderful having a larger group interested in pursuing this career," he said. "We're seeing the legacies come in and the family structure we've talked about for years finally coming back,"

The NDOC applauds the accomplishments of the cadet class, recognizing the significance of this milestone in their journey. Their dedication to learning and growing within the field of corrections reflects a commitment that extends beyond themselves.

Cadet graduation takes place at the Stewart Gymnasium 12 p.m. August 26, 2023.
